TERMS AND CONDITIONS

I agree that my Remittance Application is subject to the conditions set forth below:

All information on The Remittance Application, as applicable, must be completed, including my designation of any intermediary bank. My completion of the Remittance Application for a funds transfer shall constitute a payment order instructing Bank to execute or pay the order, subject to Bank's acceptance. The Bank may reject my order if the information is incomplete or unclear. Any error in the information provided by me, including misidentification of the beneficiary, incorrect or inconsistent account name and numbers, and misspelling, is my responsibility.

I understand that this remittance application will be subject to the verification of my identity and verification of the identity of the beneficiary.

I understand that if the Beneficiary's Bank is instructed to pay in a currency other than its local currency, payment will normally be made by Beneficiary's Bank at its rate of exchange on the date of its payment. I shall comply with all local currency restrictions and any other local laws governing the transaction.

I understand that, for any reason, wire transfer is returned or rejected, the returned fund may be smaller than the fund remitted by me due to the bank fees collected by the intermediary and/or beneficiary banks. I also agree that the remittance amount returned will be exchanged using the exchange rate on the date the order was returned if the remittance amount is returned in the local foreign currency of the beneficiary country.

I agree to be bound by the rules of all funds transfer systems and communications systems in which Bank participates, such as Fedwire and S.W.I.F.T, connected with the fund transfer. Bank may use whatever funds transfer systems and methods of payments are appropriate in its judgment in executing any payment order accepted by the Bank. I agree that Bank may rely upon the identifying number (e.g., Fedwire number or account number) of any person or entity as instructed in the Remittance Application, be it Intermediary Bank, Beneficiary's Bank or Beneficiary, even if it identifies a person or entity different from that identified by name. Also, the Beneficiary's Bank in the payment order may make the payment based on the identifying number even though it identifies a person different from the named beneficiary. I shall be responsible for the consequences of any inconsistency between the name and the identifying number of any such person or entity as set forth in the Remittance Application and shall be liable for any loss, liability, expense, or damage, including attorney's fees and litigation expenses. The Bank may incur as a result of, or in any way connected with, such inconsistency.

The Bank's liability in connection with any payment order shall be limited to remittance amount and fee only. To the extent permitted by law, the Bank shall not be liable for events or circumstances beyond your reasonable control or indirect, special, or consequential damages.

A remittance sent to South Korea may be subject to verification of the current transaction if sent in Korean Won Currency, and the amount of remittance is over the U.S. $20,000.00 when the beneficiary bank received the fund. The beneficiary's failure to provide reasonable proofs of the current transaction may result in the remittance to be returned.

I agree that within 180 days after my fund transfer has been executed, I will notify the Bank of any error, delays, or other problems related to my payment order. If it is determined that my fund transfer is delayed or erroneously executed by the Bank, the Bank is responsible for paying or refunding such amounts. However, if I fail to notify the Bank within one year from the fund transfer date, my claim may be restricted under applicable law.
